Interview Questions

1. Please tell me about your self?

= My name is Ade Ramadhan. I'm 21 years old and currently in my sixth semester majoring in Information Management at Politeknik Negeri Sriwijaya. I have a strong interest in technology, especially in web development and data management. I'm a person who enjoys learning new things and taking on new challenges. During my time in college, I have joined several organizations and training programs to improve both my technical and soft skills. I'm also a responsible and hardworking individual who always tries to give the best in every task I handle.

2. Do you mind telling me your formal education?

= Of course, I'd be happy to share. I am currently studying at Politeknik Negeri Sriwijaya, majoring in Information Management. Since high school, I've always been passionate about computers and technology, which is why I chose this path. My formal education has not only given me academic knowledge, but also valuable life lessons—such as the importance of discipline, consistency, and never giving up when things get tough. I believe that education is not just about getting good grades, but about building character and preparing ourselves for the real world.

3. Could you tell me about family?

= I come from a well-established and supportive family. My parents have always prioritized education and values, and they've given me the opportunity to grow and pursue my dreams without limitations. In my family, we support each other in everything we do—whether it's in education, career, or personal growth. That strong support system has shaped me into someone who's confident, motivated, and grateful. I believe that having a caring and understanding family is one of the biggest blessings in life.

4. Please could you mention your family background?

= I come from a respected and well-off family with strong values. My parents have worked hard to provide the best for our family, especially in terms of education and moral upbringing. They always emphasize the importance of honesty, responsibility, and kindness to others. Growing up in such an environment has made me appreciate discipline, hard work, and family unity. Their support and guidance have helped me become who I am today.

5. Please tell me about impressive experience?

= One of the most impressive experiences in my life was when I had the opportunity to do an internship at Pertamina. It was my first time working in a professional environment, and I learned so much—from teamwork and communication, to applying my technical skills in real-world projects. I was trusted to assist in handling data and contributing to a system that helped their internal operations. That experience gave me confidence, improved my problem-solving abilities, and made me even more passionate about pursuing a career in the tech field.
